

Final exam\ A\ 2ND CLASS

Q1\Answer True or False on the following?

- 1-The most important limiting structure in maxilla are hamular notch.
- 2-When the patient say “ah” we can locate fovea palatine.
- 3-During teeth arrangement , max. 1st premolar should positioned above occlusal plane about 1mm.
- 4- During teeth arrangement the force of the buccal musculature should not compensate the force by lingual musculature.
- 5- The horizontal distance between the incisal edge of the maxillary and mandibular incisors is called over bite.
- 6-Bulky wax is very important factor during wax contouring.
- 7- During selection of stock tray for our patient, the tray should cover teeth only.
- 8- polished surface of the denture is that surface which has contour determined by the impression.
- 9- The maxilla is less capable of resisting occlusal forces because of its small available denture bearing area.
- 10- Labial and buccal frenum should not be relieved during denture construction.
- 11- Mental foramen should be relieved during denture construction.
- 12- During maxillary final impression making, the patient should sit on the chair in upright position.

م.م. ريم احمد شهاب

جامعة تكريت - كلية طب الأسنان

Q2\Sex, personality and age of the patient is important factors affecting selecting the form of anterior teeth , Explain how?

Q3\What are the keys of occlusion?

